Chris builds excellent working relationships with clients by securing planning permission in challenging scenarios

Chris joined Icen Projects in 2019 as a Director in Manchester, bringing with him over 20 years of experience and a detailed knowledge of the planning system.

With a particular focus on mixed use, office, residential and logistics development, Chris provides strategic advice and leads on complex cases, including the redevelopment of listed buildings and Green Belt releases.

Chris' clients value his honest approach, returning time and again for planning advice on prospective new projects.

Chris started his career at Halton Borough Council, working his way up to Senior Planning Officer before moving over to the private sector in 1998, when he worked for Chesterton, Matthews & Goodman, Cushman & Wakefield, having most recently completed a 10 year stint as Director at NJL Consulting.

Advising on stakeholder management and politics alongside planning, Chris understands the commercial realities of development and adds value to all projects that he is involved in.
