

Landscape Architect

Iceni's exciting new Landscape team are looking for a dynamic landscape architect to join our busy London practice, based in Farringdon. The Landscape team work closely with a wide range of developers, project managers and town planners to provide landscape advice and assessments for a range of projects, from small housing developments to major employment schemes. We are looking for someone who can get stuck into projects, finding creative solutions, advising clients, and being a compelling advocate for outstanding landscape design.

The work is varied with a wide range of clients, and with projects located across the UK. The Landscape team focus on landscape planning, as well as producing strategic and high-level landscape design and masterplanning. The opportunity also exists for the right candidate to develop their skills in relation to planning appeals and public inquiries.

Location

London based, but flexible; home working is expected for part of the week.

Pay

Competitive.

Contract Type

Permanent, full time, but we support flexible working arrangements, and welcome applications from those looking for flexibility in how and where they work.

Hours

37.5 per week

Who is Iceni?

Iceni Projects is a modern, forward-thinking development consultancy. In being awarded the 2021 RTPI Planning Consultancy of the Year Award, it was noted that,

'The judges were especially impressed by Iceni's tribal ethos, in the sense that they have created a culture which staff focused and highlights the importance of their wellbeing above all else.'

Nothing could make us prouder. Iceni is a firm that, across its services, always looks to work collaboratively, seeking creative solutions to problems, challenging clients and colleagues to create great places.

We serve a range of clients, from private landowners to large strategic development organisations.

What are we looking for?

We are looking for a Landscape Architect, either at a Consultant, Senior or Associate level (although exceptional Graduates will also be considered). The Landscape team is newly established, and the opportunity exists for you to help build the team, and to shape the form of the Landscape team as well as its future direction and growth.

We are looking for someone who wants to take the next step in their career, and who is looking to grow within a supportive team environment.

The Role
